GOLF COURSE DEVELOPER EXPANDS (WITH THE 504 GREEN LOAN, NATURALLY.)

A golf course development team in central Texas led by Larry Galloway was in the process of acquiring Sky Creek Ranch when they discovered one of the team members had eligibility issues due to existing SBA loan exposure. The loan process was nearly complete and large real estate options were expiring. The seller was ready to pull out of the deal, and needed reassurance that the SBA 504 loan could still close. Needing a fast solution, the CDC contacted Entero Energy.

First, Entero reached out to reassure the seller and explain the reliability of the SBA 504 green loan solution. Then, they worked with Galloway and his group to deliver the SBA Verification Report within seven days. Also, as part of the deal, the loan fulfillment had to take place immediately.

Entero dispatched their mobile install team to take action the week after the loan closed. The solar system integration happened lightning fast, allowing Galloway and his team to close out the local interim loans and take the SBA loan within the required time frame.

Galloway and his group are in the process of acquiring their second golf course using the SBA 504 green loan. Entero's expertise will help them grow their business while embracing renewable energy. Another example of the power and diversity of the SBA 504 green loan program.

"ENTERO WAS PROFESSIONAL EVERY STEP OF THE WAY AND MADE SURE WE GOT THE RIGHT SYSTEM. WE WOULD RECOMMEND ENTERO AS A RENEWABLE ENERGY PARTNER."
